

Supporting Writing at Home

Writing develops through regular opportunities to talk, read, write and share ideas.

Parents and carers can support their child's writing development by encouraging them to talk about their experiences, discuss new vocabulary and take an interest in the writing they produce at school.

Talk

Encourage your child to talk about their experiences, ask questions and discuss new vocabulary.

Read

Our Pathways to Write units expose children to a wide range of high-quality texts and vocabulary.

Talk about the books and topics they encounter in school and encourage them to use new and interesting vocabulary in everyday conversation.

Write

Children can also be encouraged to write for real purposes at home. This could include:

- shopping lists
- letters
- stories
- postcards
- instructions
- reviews
- diary entries

Share

Most importantly, we want children to see writing as meaningful, enjoyable and useful.

By providing regular opportunities to talk, read and write at home, parents and carers can help children develop the confidence to share their ideas and express themselves through writing.

Together, we can help children find their voice through writing!
