Hello all 😊

The weather is meant to be glorious this week so why not spend the week at the beach...well, the virtual beach! The ocean lends itself to some fabulous activities that everyone in the family can enjoy 😊

- Youtube is full of fun rhymes and tunes about the animals who live in our oceans...have a sing-a-song as a family!

- Why not have a go at some ocean art!

(Don't forget to add sprinkle some salt on your 'blue' background and watch some magic 😊)

- Water play is always fun...fill a paddling pool or even the bath!

Water Balloon Maths!

Toy Sorting

Put some toys in a large container of water (you could use a water table if you have one), and give the children some nets and buckets so that they can scoop up and collect the toys, perhaps sorting them by colour, or by type.

Water Relay Race

Sort the children into teams for a water relay race. You'll need some large containers of water at the start of the racecourse, and some empty containers at the end so that each team has their own set of two containers. The children take it in turns to fill a bucket with water, run down the track and tip it into the container at the end, before running back and passing the bucket to the next person. The team that collects the most water wins.

Have fun!

Don't forget to send us the photos!

From,

Miss Haynes 😊
